

Privacy Policy

Upon applying for membership on the website as a user, you are obligated to disclose specific information and choose a username and a password to access the website's services. You are responsible for maintaining the confidentiality of your account information and password. You must immediately notify the website of any unauthorized use of your account information or any other breach of your confidential information. The website will not be responsible for any direct or indirect loss, both moral and financial, resulting from the disclosure of your username or login password. You are solely responsible for using your account or membership on the website, and if someone else uses it, it indicates that you have authorized them to use the website on your behalf. You must use the website seriously and honestly. You are obliged to provide accurate, up-to-date, complete, and lawful information about yourself as required during the registration process. You must also update your data when it changes, as necessary. The website is committed to treating your personal information and contact details with complete confidentiality. If it is discovered that you have provided inaccurate, outdated, incomplete, unlawful information, or have violated the terms of use agreement, the website has the right to suspend, freeze, or cancel your membership or account without compromising the rights of the website and its legitimate means to recover its rights and protect other users. The privacy policies we design are suitable for everyone. This responsibility stems from our commitment to creating products and services available to all. These principles aim to guide our employees and direct our operations and products in order to maintain the security and privacy of user data.

When does this policy apply?

This privacy policy applies to all the services we provide at Onewin, including the website, platform, and mobile applications. This privacy policy does not apply to services that have separate privacy policies that do not include this privacy policy.

When you use our services, you entrust us with your information. We understand that this is a big responsibility and we work diligently to protect your information.

The purpose of this privacy policy is to help you understand the nature of the information we collect, why we collect it, as well as how to update, export, and delete your information.

When do we share your information?

Our services allow you to share information with others, and you can control how it is shared. For example, you can share videos on YouTube or social media platforms publicly, or you can choose to keep them private. Please note that when you share information publicly, it means that the content may be accessed through search engines, websites, and applications.

We ensure security for our services to protect your information.

All our products are equipped with strong security features that continuously protect your information. The insights we gain help us detect and automatically prevent security threats from accessing your information. If we discover any risks that we believe you should know about, we will inform you and provide guidance on steps to better protect yourself.

We make every effort to protect you from unauthorized access, alteration, disclosure, or destruction of the information we hold, including:

- We use encryption to maintain the privacy of your data during transmission.
- We provide a range of security features, such as secure browsing and security scanning, to help protect your account.
- We review practices for collecting, storing, and processing information, including actual security measures to prevent unauthorized access to our systems.
- Access to personal information is limited to our employees who need to know that information for processing. Anyone granted access to this information is subject to strict contractual confidentiality obligations, and any failure to fulfill their obligations may result in disciplinary action or termination of service.
- The site takes tangible, organizational, and technical measures to protect users, prevent unauthorized access to users' personal information, and safeguard it.
- You acknowledge as a user that the World Wide Web is not a completely secure means, and the confidentiality of your personal information cannot be guaranteed 100% through the website.
- The site has no control over the actions of any third party, or third parties, such as other web pages linked to the platform or website, or third parties claiming to represent you or others.
- You are aware of and agree that the site may use the information you provide to it for the purpose of providing services to you on the site, sending marketing messages to you, and that privacy on the site governs the process of collection and processing. The use and transfer of your personal identification information, and the confidentiality rules are subject to the "Privacy and Confidentiality Policy" of the site.