

Refund Policy

Without breaching the terms of the agreement, users have the right to terminate the contract and cancel their subscription at any time by deleting and canceling their subscription. However, they are not entitled to request a refund or compensation for any amounts paid. Users cannot claim any refunded amounts or payments made through the website since they have purchased and used the service and participated in the available competition draws. The exception to this is if the user has funded their wallet on the platform but has not used it to enter the competitions. In that case, they can request a refund, but they will be responsible for any expenses or costs incurred, such as administrative fees, taxes, and fees.
